The left side of the car was ripped apart due to the impact. Details on who was driving the car, where the victims were seated and the names of the injured were not available.

Police said that Sagar was a jaggery trader and was returning to Hanakere after supplying jaggery to a place in Ramanagaram.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

A friend announced the upcoming marriage of his daughter in our social media group chat. He requested the members to give their postal addresses so that he could send invitations to all. One said, "No need to send a card. You place an invitation in digital mode on this platform. All will receive it in a jiffy and attend the marriage. You can avoid printing so many invitations."

Then started a discussion about the efficacy of a gift during the marriage. One posted: "Don't waste money on gifts. My house is full of unusable articles received as gifts over the years." Another posted: "The same applies to bouquets also. People thrust a nosegay to the couple and congratulate them on getting married. The couple hand over the flowers to someone beside them. The flowers are dumped in a room in the marriage hall itself. People don't take the flowers home, because they are useless next day. The people in charge of the hall dump the withered flowers in a bin. So, please don't waste money on bouquets." Another wrote, "It is fashionable to put some money in an envelope and gift it to the couple. We can follow this practice." Another friend said, "I gift money only to poor people getting married, like my office chowkidar. At marriages of wealthy acquaintances, I shake hands with the couple."

I attended a house-warming ceremony in a town in South Tamil Nadu. Guests were gifting cash to the owner of the house. A relative was counting and writing the name of the guests and the amount in a notebook. I asked a friend nervously why it was being recorded. He explained, "When the owner attends somebody's function he will reciprocate with the same amount as gift. Hence the recording of gift amount." In yet another function, the host read out the names of the guests and the amounts of gifts over a public address system leaving many red-faced. Only the highest contributors were left with their pride intact.

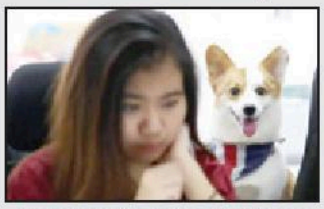
'Bring your dog to work day'



Bangkok: Even in a highly creative environment, work at the office can get pretty stressful, so a digital advertising agency in Bangkok, Thailand is encouraging staff to bring their pets, especially dogs, to work, to help them relax.

Walking into the Bangkok headquarters of Adyim, a successful digital marketing firm, it's not uncommon to see young employees holding small dogs in their laps, stroking them with one hand and operating their computer mouse with the other. In fact, company manager, Anankanat Kongphanich, encourages staff to bring their pets too work as often as possible. This is not a marketing scheme to draw attention to the company. Anankanat just wants her team to be more comfortable at the workplace and wantedto increase their productivity. She didn't just come up with that theory, either. Researchers at the University of Minnesota found that having pets reduces stress and improves work quality, and the Adyim manager claims that ever since the measure was implemented, the office and the efficiency of the employees have both improved significantly.

Too Handsome!

Beijing: A Chinese mother was left heartbroken after a DNA test showed that the child she had raised for 28 years was not her real son. Her ex-husband became suspicious and demanded the test because he couldn't understand how the boy had turned out so handsome.

The young man's mother, referred to only as Zhang by Chinese media, said that ever since her son was born, friends and family had always been surprised about how different the child looked, and how handsome he was compared to them. Over the years, all these comments sowed the seeds of doubt in her husband's mind, and affected their marriage, eventually ended in a divorce, but that wasn't enough to lay the man's suspicions to rest.

But 7 years later, the man demanded a DNA test to make sure that the son they had raised together was actually their flesh and blood. The result of the DNA test showed that the boy was not his real son.

Replace cement signboards with steel boards

Sir,

I am a resident of J.P. Nagar 7th Cross, 'E' Block, next to Sai Baba Temple Road. The cement signboards indicating the Cross, Main and House Nos. are in a bad condition — some of them are not visible and in some signboards letters are completely faded making it difficult for people in locating the houses.

One of the signboards erected on this road in Kannada "Nachanahalli Kuppaluru Third Stage" is broken into half and iron rods supporting the board is clearly visible. In my opinion, instead of erecting cement block signboards it is better to install steel signboards, like in many other layouts which are durable.

I request the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) officials to look into this and give a facelift to the signboards of our locality as early as possible in the interest of general public.

Garbage scattered on Gaganachumbi Double Road

Sir,

There is poor waste management in Kuvempunagar (Gaganachumbi Double Road) area opposite Jodi Basava Temple. The MCC workers do not collect the garbage kept on the passage for days together and it gets scattered everywhere.

This is an unhealthy practice considering the current scenarios where dengue is spreading across the city through mosquitoes. The place always has foul smell and is surrounded by swamps, flies and mosquitoes. If MCC fails to pick it up, they should give us a different option to discard the waste as there is no big dustbin or any system where the garbage can be discarded. This shows the carelessness of MCC.

More bicycles to augment 'Trin Trin' during Dasara

DC reviews PBS system

DC D. Randeep held a meeting in his office yesterday to review the performance of 'Trin Trin' PBS system launched two months ago.

Mysuru, Aug. 6 (US)- District Administration intends to increase the number of bicycles under the 'Trin Trin' scheme, India's first Public Bicycle Sharing (PBS) system to attract tourists during Dasara.

This was disclosed by Deputy Commissioner D. Randeep who held a meeting yesterday in his office here to review the performance of the project which was launched two months ago.

Randeep said that the PBS system has evoked good response from people who want to protect the environment. He disclosed that the Corporators have sought Bicycle Docking Stations in all their Wards which would be considered in the second phase of the project.

Earlier to the meeting, a review team from Bengaluru evaluated the efficacy and efficiency of the system. They found that the bicycles were built to suit all ages of people claiming that the unisex model was an added asset. The team suggested the DC to adopt Bhopal model for 'Trin Trin' where bicycle lanes were painted red symbolising red carpet welcome for bicycle users. Incidentally, Bhopal is the second city after Mysuru to adopt the PBS system.

Randeep said that MCC has been asked to identify roads to have exclusive bicycle lanes. He expressed a desire to popularise bicycle as a mode of transportation to reach more households.

Fearing separation, woman hangs self, partner follows suit

Venkatesh

Mysuru, Aug. 6 (RK&BCT)- Unable to break-off from her live-in partner, a 25-year-old woman committed suicide last night.

Seeing her dead body, her partner too ended his life. The incident occurred at Kumbarakoppal and the couple has been identified as 38-year-old Venkatesh and Asha.

Venkatesh was working as a driver and had married Roopa, a resident of Mallegowdanakoppal, five years back. They have a five-year-old son and the couple were living separately as they had differences. Sometime back, Venkatesh had filed for a divorce that was being heard at a Family Court in Mysuru.

Family members and Police said that three years back, Venkatesh's father Chandregowda was diagnosed with gangrene and he needed constant assistance. As Roopa was living separately, the family members and elders convinced Venkatesh to accommodate his cousin Asha at his house to take care of his ailing father.

Accordingly, Asha came to Venkatesh's house at Kumbarakoppal and nursed his father. They eventually became close to each other and even informed the family members that they would get married after Venkatesh obtains a divorce from Roopa. Venkatesh's father Chandregowda died later.

Venkatesh's and Roopa's divorce case was listed for hearing yesterday and accordingly, Venkatesh had attended the proceedings. At the Court, advocate Raghu tried to convince Venkatesh to go for a compromise and patch up with his wife. Initially, Venkatesh did not agree but eventually consented for a compromise with Roopa in the interests of their son.

The Police said that Venkatesh returned home after the Court hearing and narrated the compromise formula to Asha who was upset with that.

They had a minor argument where Asha reminded Venkatesh of his promise to marry her after obtaining a divorce. She told him that all these years he had told her that he would not go in for a compromise and questioned him about the change in stand.

At around 8.30 pm, Asha stormed into the bedroom and hung herself to a ceiling fan. Seeing this, Venkatesh too hanged himself to death in the hall. Metagalli Inspector Sunil visited the spot and shifted the bodies to JSS Medical College in Bannimantap.

Perumbadi Road opened for movement of buses after repair

Road connecting Kodagu and Kerala had caved-in after heavy rains last month

Virajpet, Aug.6 (US)- The Perumbadi Road near here linking Kodagu and Kerala, which had caved-in owing to incessant rains last month, has been repaired and buses were allowed to ply on the road from yesterday. Five days ago, the road was thrown upon for Light Motor Vehicles.

However, a ban continues on movement of huge trucks and containers on the repaired road as per the instruction of PWD officials.

Virajpet Block Congress President R.K. Abdul Salam along with PWD Officials inspected the road and after assessing the quality of work done, informed District in-Charge Minister Seetharam and obtained his instruction to reopen the road for movement of buses which used to take a devious route via Kutta and Manandavadi.

Owners of private buses in Kodagu possessing inter-State Permit had appealed Seetharam to clear the road after repairs for movement of buses.

Certain repair works, however, continues on either side of the bridge on Perumbadi Road. However, officials contend that the movement of buses would not hamper the on going works.

In case where integrated tax is paid, the amount of ITC would be at the rate of thirty per cent and twenty percent respectively of integrated tax. This facility is available for a maximum period of 6 months from the appointed day (i.e. upto 31st December, 2017) or till the goods are sold out, whichever is earlier.

Q 9. Whether a manufacturer can avail deemed credit in respect of transitional stocks on the appointed day in respect of the stocks for which duty paying document is not available?

As the goods purchased from tax free zones were exempted from duty payment under a Notification issued under Section 5 of the Central Excise Act, 1944 and not Nil rated in the First Schedule to the Central Excise Tariff Act, 1985, the deemed credit would be available in respect of such goods held in stock on the appointed day.

Ans: In terms of Section 9(4) of the CGST Act, 2017 read with Section 31(3) ibid, the Registered Person procuring the taxable supplies from an Unregistered Supplier has to raise invoice and pay GST on reverse charge basis in respect of such supplies.

Q 12. What is the treatment of supplies made from erstwhile tax free zones?

Ans: Since GST is a destination based consumption tax with seamless transfer of ITC credit, no exemptions are accorded to supplies made by erstwhile tax free zones. Accordingly, the goods cleared from erstwhile tax free zones would be subjected to GST from the appointed day (01st July, 2017).

Q 13. What is the effect of non-payment of consideration in respect of taxable supplies received by the recipient?

Ans: If the recipient fails to pay to the supplier the amount towards the value of supply along with tax payable thereon within a period of one hundred and eighty days from the date of issue of invoice by the supplier, the amount of input tax credit availed proportionate to the amount of consideration not paid would be added to his output tax liability along with interest thereon. The ITC so reversed can be reclaimed by the recipient after payment of consideration along with tax payable thereon subsequently. This provision is not applicable in respect of deemed supplies made without consideration in terms of Schedule I to the CGST Act, 2017.

Q 14. Whether separate sequence numbers can be maintained for invoices issued by the Registered Person in respect of supplies made under GST?

Ans: In terms of Rule 46(b) of the CGST Rules, 2017 single or multiple series of invoices can be raised by the Registered Person for the supplies made under GST as long as such invoice numbers are unique for a financial year.

Q 15. Which is the document required to be issued by the Registered Person for supply of goods from one premises to another premises under the same registration number?

Ans: In terms of Rule 55(1)(c) of the CGST Rules, 2017 such movements have to be effected under the cover of a delivery challan along with any other document that may be prescribed in lieu of the e-way bill.

Q 16. Whether discounts can be claimed as an abatement from the price for assessing GST?

Ans: In terms of Section 15(3) of the CGST Act, 2017, the value of supply for charging GST shall not include any discount which is given before or at the time of the supply if such discount has been duly recorded in the invoice issued in respect of such supply. The value of supply shall also not include any discount which is given after the supply has been effected, if such discount is established in terms of an agreement entered into at or before the time of such supply and specifically linked to relevant invoices and ITC attributable to such discount has been reversed by the recipient of the supply.

Q 17. What are the relevant provisions for movement of transitional goods lying at the premises of contract manufacturer on or after appointed day?

Ans: The procedure for movement of transitional goods lying at the premises of Contract Manufacturers/Loan Licensee is governed by the provisions under Section 141(1), (2) & (3) of the CGST Act, 2017.

Coconut shells spring to life in this Septuagenarian's hands

Arun Rao busy working on the coconut shells.

Mysuru, Aug.6 (SP&NNN) - Coconut, without which most of the South Indian homes cannot do in their kitchen, has many other uses too. It is also called the 'Tree of Life.' One of the most attractive products made of coconut fibre is the coir carpets or mat made famous by the Coir Board. Still cricket matches are played on coir mats.

There are many eye-catching products made out of coconut shell. In our own city, there is an artisan who has involved himself in the art of making products out of coconut shells since the last 30 years.

He is Arun Rao, 71, a resident of Yadavagiri. He is an expert in carving interesting objects out of the coconut shell like spoons, bowls, key chains and other items. He also makes masks, coffee cups, water jugs, kumkum boxes, many items that can be displayed in the garden.

Rao, who has always shown interest in carpentry, before he came to Mysuru worked in a bank in Chikmagalur and also in a pharmaceutical company. Later, he was a Product Manager in SK Lab and moved to Chennai.

There were many coconut trees there, in the house in which he lived. Once, while he was resting, he started wondering whether anything could be done from the fronds and the shell of the coconut. Indeed lot of things could be done out of the shell and other parts of the 'Tree of life.' "It was a magical moment for me when I realised how much I could do with the coconut tree," said Arun Rao.

Arun Rao with his better half Seetha Rao.

The inspiring moment spurred him on to involve himself in making products out of the material that is environment-friendly. "I have since then continued to work on these products," he told Star of Mysore.

The joy of carving products out of the coconut gives me peace and a sense of dedication to a cause. "It is all the more pronounced when I start working on the hard shell, filing and carving it and the products spring to life, be it a cup, spoon or other products," said Rao.

An eco-sensitive person, Rao said that instead of glass cups one could use the coconut shell cup in its place. The products can be used in the kitchen and the decorative items adorn the drawing rooms. "If these items are spoilt, then we ourselves can produce new items," said Arun Rao and his wife Seetha Rao.

Rao reminds that our ancestors were only using coconut shell products, as there were no steel vessels those days. The message here is clear that coconut products are eco-friendly and that is what Rao wants to spread.

Two-hour workshop

Arun Rao conducted a two-hour workshop at Nesara, the organic outlet in Chamarajapuram, a few days back. There were twelve persons who had enrolled. "This is the first time I was conducting a workshop. Everyone who participated was very impressed with what could be done with coconut. They saw a bowl being made right in front of their eyes and learnt how to make it. Even I was very happy imparting my skills to the eager learners," signs off Arun Rao.

THE MAGIC TOUCH...

Champion Swimmer

Even as her husband Arun Rao excels in the craft of carving coconut shells, the energetic Seetha Rao, is a champion swimmer. She has even swam the English Channel (made famous by the swimming legend Mihir Bose) between England and France in relay race. Holding a bunch of medals and a majority of them gold, Seetha Rao, 67, told Star of Mysore that though she had learnt swimming at a very young age, she took it up about 17 years ago. She has swum in FINA World Championship in America (2005) and in Sri Lanka in open water swimming in the ocean (2013). She has represented Karnataka in the Veteran's category at the National- level championships 12 times.

The Rao couple also helps the visually challenged by donating textbook records to the Blind Library.

Street plays create awareness on child labour eradication

Mysuru, Aug. 6 (US&SP)- A four-day awareness programme on eradication of child labour through jathas and street plays, organised jointly by District Administration, Labour Department, Anti-Child Labour Society and Rural Literacy and Health Programme (RLHP), was launched yesterday in front of Labour Department Office in Kuvempunagar here.

Launching the programme, Assistant Labour Commissioner A.C. Thammanna asked people to avoid employing children as domestic help and added that children should be allowed to continue in education.

A seven-member team of Child Helpline staged a street play and will enact the play in other areas of city.

Senior Labour Officer Manjula Devi, Programme Director Mallikarjun, Child Helpline Convenor Anil Kumar and others were present.

Autorickshaws went around the area in a jatha and distributed leaflets on anti-child labour. The exercise will be repeated in all areas for the next three days.

SKYWATCH

Partial Lunar Eclipse tomorrow

The most effective, amazing and evident astronomical event in the sky is an 'Eclipse.' Mysureans are highly privileged to witness a partial lunar eclipse on Aug.7. The Partial Lunar Eclipse will be visible from South and East Asia, Europe, Africa and Australia. Only partial phase of the eclipse can be seen from all parts of India.

Lunar eclipses, which may be total or partial, can occur only at full moon when Sun, Earth and Moon are in line. As the Sun is an extended light source, Earth's shadow has two components — a dark, central UMBRA, where the Sun is completely obscured, and a lighter outer PENUMBRA, within which the obscuration is partial. During a lunar eclipse, the Moon passes first through the penumbra, taking about an hour, moving eastward by its own diameter in this time, to reach the western edge of the umbra. A lunar eclipse occurs when the Moon passes through the umbral region of the Earth's shadow and becomes imperceptible. Lunar eclipse is discernible from a large part of the Earth.

No two lunar eclipses are ever quite the same, and although some dismiss them as of less interest than solar eclipses — particularly total solar eclipses, where the events centered on totality occur rapidly, in contrast with more stately progress of a lunar eclipse — they are fascinating to observe.

Lunar eclipses also have the advantage of being visible from the entire hemisphere of the Earth where the Moon is above the horizon, rather than being most impressive along a narrow track. The main difference from one event to another is the degree to which the totally eclipsed Moon is darkened and how colourful it might be. The level of darkened is often described in terms of the DANJON SCALE.

The complete details of Partial Eclipse of the Moon from Mysuru are given below in Indian Standard Time: Partial Lunar Eclipse on Aug. 7. Eclipse Begins - 10.52 pm; Maximum Phase of the Eclipse - 11.50 pm; Eclipse Ends - 12.50 am. Total Duration of the Eclipse Referring to Umbral and Penumbral Phases - 05h 1m. Duration of the Partial Eclipse - 1h 55m. Magnitude - 0.246.

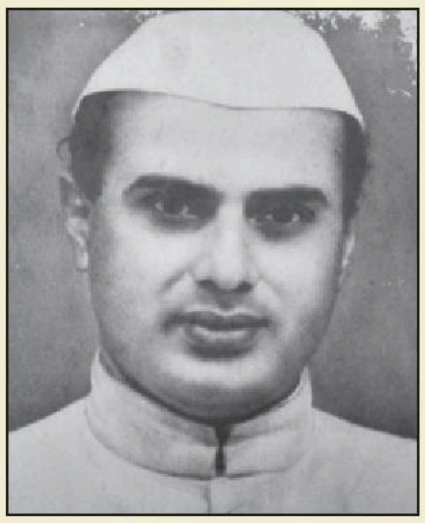
The Mysore That Was...

By M.L. Krishnaswami

The CITB Chairmen of yore...

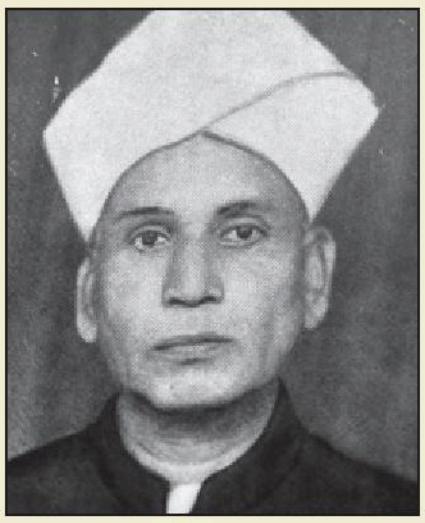
The four gentlemen — B. Narayanaswamy, B.N. Kengegowda, T. Venkataramanaiah and S. Linganna — are sterling examples of a few who held and chaired public offices with honesty and diligence. Rare qualities in the current scenario whose examples shall brighten the darkness surrounding the public domain of the present era.

B. Narayanaswamy



B.N. Kengegowda

T. Venkataramanaiah



S. Linganna

Having gone through an article on B. Narayanaswamy, a former Chairman of the then City Improvement Trust Board (CITB, now renamed as MUDA), I am tempted to write about three more former Chairmen of the same institution. The three stalwarts are: B.N. Kengegowda, T. Venkataramanaiah and S. Linganna. All three were staunch Congressmen of the now forgotten Gandhian mould and their asset was their sterling personal character exhibited in their discharging of the assigned duties in the official field. They were incorruptible to the core — a rare quality of the present day.

Mysore was a relatively small town those days with the population not exceeding four or five lakh and the pressure on land was not so acute.

The present state of affairs is quite different with the city's population, inclusive of surrounding mushrooms of dozens of private layouts and a dozen or so tiny rural urban agglomerates almost contiguously touching the city on its borders, reaching near about two million or so. Naturally, therefore, it is not easy to administer the ever-increasing problems of the city as regards roads, drainage, electricity, transport and what have you or have not. Even then absolute honesty and strength of character should become the true traits of an administrator. There should not be any second thought about this.

Not diverting away from the main subject, I should say that the three gentlemen named above, who headed the CITB in the days gone-by, have left an indelible hallmark on the civic affairs of the city.

For one, I happened to personally know two of the above three namely, S. Linganna and B.N. Kengegowda. My cousins had a business establishment on Sayyaji Rao road and being Congressmen themselves one of them became an MLA also, the above two gentlemen used to visit them quite often and that was how I had interaction there with them. I was also running a small scale industry unit in Yadavagiri Estate and Kengegowda, being a resident of the area, would go for a walk in the evening and many a time would barge into my Unit, especially on days when I ran an evening shift.

Both of us would engage ourselves in some talk or other and many a time he would suggest me to apply for and get an industrial land in the southern part of the city which would come to good use when I think of expanding my activities. He would even suggest that I make an application in this regard and he would honour the same and give necessary sanction. Suitable instalments of payment for the said land would also be given, he would aver.

But I regret that I did not avail myself of the offer. If I remember correctly, Devaraj Urs Road was visualised and works completed in Kengegowda's time. What a great civic contribution to the city that is growing at breakneck speed now. The area that is now the 'Urs Road' was known as "Belli Katte Meesalu," whatever it meant I do not know. It was dotted by some paan-shops, small traders and what have you. Naturally, the area was notorious with minor group clashes and allied events. It was a real herculean effort to convert such an area into a beautiful commercial enclave which is now the main business district of the city. Congrats to the then CITB for their strenuous efforts put up in this endeavour.

I do not know much about T. Venkataramanaiah and if I remember correctly he was living in Ittigegud, now renamed Indiranagar. Somehow, I am not for changing the existing names of extensions, roads, circles etc., because each of these one will have some historical significance of great value. There are umpteen number of roads and circles which are crying for a name, is it not? Then, why deface the old one and put a new one in its place?

Good number of developments were taken up and completed in Venkataramanaiah's time. He was also a strict Gandhian of his time and used his official car for office work only.

The next gentleman I am writing about in this connection is S. Linganna, a simple and senior Congressman of those days. He was also in the Ittigegud-Nazarbad area of the city and was responsible for forming many layouts in the city. Absolutely honest to the core, he also used his official car as Chairman only for official duties and otherwise he would take a city bus or a jatka for his personal errands. If the top man in any organisation or company is dead honest and scrupulous to the core, this genuine trait will trickle down the hierarchy and permeate to the lower strata. Some times he also used to spend an evening in my cousin's business place on Sayyaji Rao road and if any one known to him would meet him there and request for sanction of a site or some other work connected with his office, he would ask him to see him in his office and if the case is genuine he would call the necessary case worker for connected papers and append his signature for immediate action.

The above four gentlemen are sterling examples of a few who held and chaired public offices with honesty and diligence — rare qualities in the current scenario whose examples shall brighten the darkness surrounding the public domain of the present era.

UoM Academic Council Meeting

Show-cause notice to be served on Prof. Mahadeva

Mysuru, Aug. 6- The Academic Council Meeting of Mysore Varsity, which was chaired by Acting Vice-Chancellor Prof. Dayananda Mane yesterday, has decided to serve a show-cause notice on English Professor Mahadeva, for questioning the decisions taken by the Academic Council.

Prof. Mahadeva, in a letter, had questioned the Council's decision to permit St. Philomena's College to provide exams for a few students who were pursuing MA in English.

The Council had allowed the College to give the students exams even though they were ineligible to get admission for MA in English as per the guidelines.

As the College had admitted the students even though they were ineligible, the Academic Council had permitted the College to give them examinations on certain conditions and had also warned the College to follow the rules in future.

The members of the Academic Council said that Prof. Mahadeva had defamed the Academic Council by questioning its decision and added that Prof. Mahadeva should have approached the VC for clarification, instead of writing to the Council, following which it was decided to serve Prof. Mahadeva with a show-cause notice. Meanwhile, Prof. Mahadeva said that there has been irregularities in this issue and those violating the University rules should be punished and the Mysore Varsity should cancel its affiliation to the College which has flouted the rules.

Deputy Commissioner gives tips on improving SSLC, PUC results

Mysuru, Aug.6 (MTY&DM)- In a bid to boost the performance of students studying in Ashram Schools and other Residential Schools, Deputy Commissioner (DC) D. Randeep gave some valuable tips to the authorities concerned here recently.

Chairing over a meeting of Head Masters and Hostel Wardens of Residential Schools and Hostels run by the Social Welfare Department, Tribal Welfare Department, Backward Classes Welfare Department and SC/ST Welfare Department at Dr. Babu Jagjivan Ram Bhavan in Vinayakanagar here, Randeep said that the Government has taken many measures for improving the performance of SSLC and PUC students residing in the hostels and Ashram Schools.

Stressing on the need for following a uniform teaching method in the Residential Schools, the DC said that it was important to hold special classes for boosting the results.

Pointing out that an action plan is being prepared for improving the performance of students, he said that preparatory exams must be held once in three months in order to evaluate the academic preparedness of students. Calling for organising smart classes for high school students, the DC said that the authorities should ensure proper maintenance of hostels and schools.

He also urged the school heads and wardens to ensure 100 percent result for the district in the next academic year.

ZP CEO P. Shivashankar too addressed the meeting. District Backward Classes Welfare Officer G.S. Somashekar Jigani, District Social Welfare Officer B.S. Prabha, District Girijan Development Officer C. Shivakumar and other officials took part.

Farmers lay siege to CADA office, prepare food at venue

Mysuru, Aug. 6 (SPN)- Upset over the Government not acceding to their request for release of water to irrigation canals attached to four major dams in the Cauvery basin, farmers under the banner of Karnataka Rajya Raitha Sangha (KRRS) and Hasiru Sene, laid siege to the Cauvery Command Area Development Authority (CADA) office on Sayyaji Rao Road here yesterday.

Even as the farmers laid siege, the Police used force and arrested him. However, the apprehended farmers were later released.

Accusing the Government of releasing water to Tamil Nadu from KRS and Kabini dams for the past seven weeks, the protesting farmers pointed out that villages in Karnataka's Cauvery basin were struggling to get sufficient drinking water, but the Government appeared intent on releasing water to Tamil Nadu, which is grave injustice to farmers of Karnataka.

The agitators prepared food at the protest site and waited till 4 pm for the Irrigation authorities to address their concerns. When the authorities concerned did not turn up, the farmers got frustrated and planned a rally to K.R. Circle where they threatened to block vehicular movement.

The farmers, refusing to listen to the Police, went ahead with the rally. The Cops, who tried to stop the farmers, were reportedly pushed away and the protesters entered New Sayyaji Rao Road.

The Cops met the farmer leaders near MCC and warned them of action. When the farmers refused to withdraw their agitation, the Police summoned a van and bundled farmers into it. However, the farmers were released later in the night. As the agitating farmers continued their protest even after arrest, DC D. Randeep visited the CAR Ground, where the farmers were kept and held talks with the farmer leaders. Following an assurance from the DC on meeting their demand, the farmers withdrew the protest, according to KRRS leader Hosur Kumar.

Primary School teachers stage protest

Mysuru, Aug.6 (RKB&DM)- Demanding fulfilment of their demands, Government Primary School teachers, under the banner of Mysuru District Karnataka State Primary School Teachers Association, staged a demonstration in front of the DC's office here yesterday.
